

A Sculpture Trail At Laurelwood Arboretum

Using art to connect people with nature

ABOUT

A Sculpture Trail features representative works from notable artists from around the country. Sculptures have been thoughtfully selected and creatively placed by our Curator, Scott A. Broadfoot (Broadfoot & Broadfoot, A Collection of Fine Art) with consideration to the varied plant life, water, topographical features and natural light in the park. Visitors will find that each season and even the variable weather in the northeast provide an interesting backdrop to these unique works of art.

PARTICIPATING ARTISTS

There have been 17 notable artists who participated in this project, each of whom can boast of a rich and diverse portfolio of work, education and experience. The artists range in age, gender, and geographic region. A variety of mediums like natural stone, clay, metals and acrylic have been used to create these unique sculptures.

PURCHASE

All art is for sale; a portion of the proceeds are donated back to the arboretum and will be applied to a capital improvement project. If you're interested in purchasing a sculpture or would like more information, contact: Scott A. Broadfoot at (646) 808-7470 or at Scott@broadfootandbroadfoot.com. Tabletop works from many of our participating artists are sometimes showcased in the Knippenberg Center and are also available through Broadfoot and Broadfoot. Please refer to our website for display times and also contact Scott@broadfootandbroadfoot.com to inquire about these works.

SUPPORT

There are many sponsorship opportunities available. To become a valued sponsor or to purchase an ad in our ever-lasting, digital ad journal that benefits this project go to: laurelwoodarboretum.org OR Donate online at: gofundme.com/f/sculpture-path-laurelwood-arboretum.

TOURS
